we can give recommendations. We are anxious to find steady work for a competent man. He has a family to support and will accept any honorable position on trial. We have a man whom we can recommend to take up whom we can recommend to take up and lay carpets. Also a man for cleaning cisterns and doing odd jobs. We know of an invalid woman who would be benefited by an invalid's chair. She would like to receive orders for needlework. The district nurse still needs sheets, pillow-cases, changes of clothing, and medicines for the relief of the sick. She has relieved many pitiful cases of suffering. We wish to inform the public that two able bodied tramps applied for aid and refused to work. We wish the people would refuse to support such persons in their idlenees.
